OREGON

Fine weather after a mixed season at Baker City.

Farmers in the vicinity of Cove are busy putting in new crops.

Judge McFarland organized an Encampment of the Red Cross at Cove recently.

The Forest Grove Independent now publishes litigant notices for Washington county.

Mr. Stergill will race his mare against Flannagan's horse for $1,000 a side, over the Baker City track, May 11th.

Mr. Moses Block, who was a witness in the Kitchen case at Portland, returned to Baker City early last week.

James Maxey, a former resident of Umpqua valley, in this State, died suddenly in San Francisco on the 3d inst.

A sturgeon was caught in the Columbia last week, three miles below the Dalles, which weighed two hundred and fifty pounds.

On the night of the 6th, two horses were stolen from the farms of J H Richey and P Howell, near Weston. Adams brothers lost a saddle and bridle the same night.

The horses of the Northwestern Stage Co., at Baker City, and along the entire line to Boise City, took the "epizooty" a week ago, causing some delay in running the stages.

It is reported that a fair prospect exists that the woolen mills at Brownsville, which have been idle for some months, will be put in active operation again during the coming season. Two mechanics of experience in the business, propose to obtain control of the mills and run them under their own special supervision. The people in that section will be pleased should the pending arrangements be perfected.

THE TERRITORIES.

The Idaho mines are doing well.

Colonel Joe Meek is now traveling through Idaho.

At Silver City, I. T., they keep up two faro and one Monte game.

The "epizootic" is on its way to Idaho. The Silver City horses have it.

Rufus King, late Postmaster at Silver City, has removed to Oakland, California.

Prize spelling and dancing are in order in Silver City.

Phillip Ritz, the florist, returned recently to Walla Walla from a trip to Philadelphia.

An apron party exercised the minds of the youth and beauty of Walla Walla on the evening of the 7th.

The last mail advices from Montana show that the epizooty to be spreading, and giving horsemen much and serious trouble.

The bond of S. D. Smith, the newly appointed Postmaster at Walla Walla, has been duly executed and forwarded to Washington.

It is reported that five hundred Chinamen will be at work on the proposed track of the railroad between Tenino and the Sound the present week.

W. S. Stevens has sued the Northwestern Stage Company for the sum of $10,000 for injuries received while riding on the stage on the 8th of last December.

On the last trip of the bark Martha Rideout, from Puget Sound for San Francisco, a seaman named John Kelly fell dead on shipboard, from heart disease, and was buried at sea.

Rev. Joseph Freeman, D. D., late of Vermont, arrived in Seattle by the steamer Zephyr, on last Saturday afternoon, and entered upon the pastoral charge of the Baptist society on Sunday.

Charles A. Pool, who has been considered crazy, had been missing from Steilacoom for some time. On Sunday last his body was found on the beach near that place, evidently having been in the water several days.

Hon. Elwood Evans, Centennial Commissioner for Washington Territory, leaves next week for Philadelphia, to be present at the annual session of the Convention, which is to convene in that city in May next.

The regular spring sluice-robbing has begun quite early in Montana this year. The miners won't stand much of that sort of foolishness. Witness, the strangulation of a Chinaman caught in the act near Bozeman a few days ago.

The steamer Rose, with the U S. mails, leaves Port Townsend every Monday, returning Thursdays, touching both ways at San Juan, Lopez, Orcas and Fidalgo Islands, Point William, Semiahmoo and Semiahmoo.

Mr. J. C. Horr, of the firm of Abbott & Horr, of Olympia, has transferred the remaining stock in his store to Judge McFadden for the benefit of the San Francisco creditors; he being released from all further responsibility for the debts of the concern.

A party of San Franciscans are at Seattle with a view to purchasing the Lake Washington Coal Mines. The gentlemen comprising the party were out to the mine, and have been examining the wharf, road, cars, boats and other property of the present company, to ascertain their condition and value, before making their offer.

A bold attempt to escape was made by the prisoners in the Territorial prison of Montana on the 26th ult. Firmness on the part of the keepers only prevented two guards being murdered, and the whole convict force getting out. The plot being discovered a few minutes before it was to have been executed, a keeper called the ring leader to him, and shoving a cocked revolver into his face demanded an axe and butcher-knife, which the rascal produced, but with which it was intended to murder the man who compelled their surrender.

The Lewiston (Me.) Journal thus corrects a popular error concerning the workings of the Prohibition system in Maine:

We sometimes hear it said that there is more liquor drank now in Maine, under prohibition, than there was forty years ago under license. But every man knows better. Indeed a comparison of Maine to-day with license States shows that there are not one fourth as many places in Maine where intoxicating liquors are sold as a beverage as there are in license States, and not one eighth as much liquor sold per inhabitant. The last report of the Attorney-General of Maine shows ninety per cent of our criminals are made by the liquor traffic, and gives us some interesting statistics of the decrease of crime in this State growing out of prohibition and its enforcement. During the year 1866 the prison, jail, and reform school received 201 criminals. The number sentenced in 1867 was 157, in 1867, 114, in 1869, 139, in 1870, 150, 1871, 152 and in 1872 only 160. Estimating the average of commitments for the seven years under review we find it 152. This result indicates the remarkable fact that the crime during the last year (1872,) in which the reform movement has gone hand in hand with prohibition, is thirty three per cent less than the average of the last seven years. It should be noticed, moreover, that the number convicted and sentenced last year is fifty per cent less than in 1866, and thirty three per cent less than in 1871. Of course no one will claim that our prohibitory laws are thoroughly enforced in all parts of the State, for that is impossible everywhere until the public sentiment of every locality shall have been brought up to the requisite standard.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Modoc Massacre—Feeling at Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The terrible news of the treacherous assassination of Brig Gen Canby by the Modocs, and the intelligence received at the same time of murders committed by the Apaches, causes a profound feeling of grief and indignation which finds expression in all quarters, particularly in the army, where Canby was held in great esteem and affection. There are utterances of an earnest desire for the extermination of these savages. The feeling of indignation has taken place of all ideas whatever of peace, and the slightest consideration cannot be given to any other proposition than that to move at once to the severest punishment of the Modocs. Official reports of the massacre were sent to the President at a late hour last night by Adjutant General Townsend, and General Sherman was also apprised at a late hour of the occurrence. The feelings of the President and Gen Sherman at the sudden announcement were of the most intense sorrow and indignation, and there was not an instant's hesitancy in the declaration that the Modocs should be made to suffer to the severest extent for their crime. It is now evident that the act was long premeditated, and this fact adds to the deep sense of wrath that the massacre has aroused.

The President has unreservedly expressed his sanction of the severest measures now necessary to properly punish the Modocs, and his views on the subject have been fully stated to the authorities acting under the War Department. Gen Sherman also telegraphed to General Schofield instructions to move at once upon the Indians.

The Regular Murder.

UTICA April 13.—The wife of Robert Pierce was found dead in her house near Camden, this morning. It is said that she was killed by her husband. His child, four years old, says that she saw her father do the deed. The murderer is still at large.

WEST INDIES

HAVANA, April 12.—A letter from Jackmel, Hayti, dated March 24th, gives particulars of the abortive revolution at Gonaives, of which General Michael was leader. The authorities succeeded in quelling the disturbance, and thirty of those implicated were executed, including the leader, Michael, who was a hairdresser in 1853, and became General in 1868, made a grand, eloquent speech on the scaffold, and said great men like Napoleon and others had their destiny to fulfill, and he had fulfilled his. Rumors are current of difficulties in Port Rico, but nothing definite is known as to the character of the trouble.

HAVANA, April 12.—Advices from St. Thomas to the 7th have been received. It is reported that an American ship had arrived at Porto Rico with the news that a steamship had arrived at Samana Bay, with a large number of colonists from the United States, and when they attempted to disembark their landing was opposed by the inhabitants and there was some bloodshed. The report was not credited in St. Thomas, and it is believed to have been manufactured by the enemies of the Samana scheme in Porto Rico.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Bancroft will not Resign.

BERLIN, April 13.—A rumor current that Bancroft would resign is denied to-day. He recently received a complimentary letter from Grant, and also continues to enjoy the confidence of the Emperor and Bismarck.

UTAH.

From Salt Lake.

SALT LAKE, April 14.—Ground was broken to-day on the Salt Lake, Sevier Valley and Pioche Railroad, by Generals Connor and Barnum, assisted by a number of distinguished men. The road will be open 40 miles by the latter part of the summer. Prospects are exceedingly encouraging, financially.

Col M W Chapin, formerly commander of the Fourth and Twenty third Michigan Infantry, and a gallant officer during the war, died last night.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—The Colorado is still in quarantine with Chinese passengers. The five smallpox patients are in the pest house. The Board of Health will decide to-day whether to permit the landing of her cargo.

The horses at the Fashion Stables, Oakland, are down with the epizootic. Henry Sears' horses at Menlo Park are also ill with it.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—The Board of Health to-day decided that the Chinese passengers on the Colorado should be vaccinated and put on board a hulk to be furnished by the mail company. After that the ship is to be fumigated, and when the health officers consider it safe the cargo will be landed. Another Chinaman was attacked with small pox on board to day, and was sent at once to the pest house.

The flags on nearly all the public buildings are at half mast in respect to the memory of General Canby and Rev. Dr Thomas.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—The habeas corpus case of R. D. Bogart will come before the U. S. Circuit Court to-morrow. Robeson has sent out five witnesses to testify against him.

Shocks of earthquake were felt here on Saturday evening.

One of the Chinese small pox patients escaped from the pest house and made his way to Long Bridge and entered a car crowded with white people. He was destitute of clothing. The passengers and the conductor bolted from the car, leaving the Chinaman and driver in possession. The latter closed the door and drove rapidly to Butchertown, where some Mexicans lassoed the Chinaman, hauled him out and ran him back to the pest house. The escape was probably owing to negligence on the part of the people at the pest house, although Dr. Churchill asserts to the contrary.

Five insane persons were sent to Stockton to-day—Michael Mullins, Wm. Taylor, Felix Laroche and Wm. Johnson.

At a fire on East street this afternoon Wm. Keefe fell off the roof of a two-story house to the ground and received injuries which may prove fatal.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—Blind Tom, the colored musical prodigy, gave his first entertainment in this city at Platt's Hall to-night, before a very large audience.

Mrs D. P. Powers commenced her engagement at the California Theater to-night.

It is reported that there are several cases of epizootic, of a mild type, in this city at present.

The body of a man was found in the bay yesterday. He has not been identified.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—Gen Schofield has sent the following dispatch to Gen. Gillem:

Please inform me fully of the situation so I may send you more troops if necessary, or if the Indians escape from the Lava Beds, that I may send troops to operate against them from another direction. Let me know fully what you wish. I suppose you have force enough to destroy the outlaws, unless they succeed in eluding you. Nothing short of their prompt and sure destruction will satisfy the demands of justice or the expectation of the Government. (Signed)

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

YREKA, April 14.—The remains of General Canby and Dr. Thomas have been lying in state in the Masonic Hall all day, and have been visited by nearly the whole population. It is estimated that nearly a thousand persons have passed in and out of the hall. At 12 o'clock the children of the public schools passed in procession by twos, numbering about three hundred. The coffins are wrapped in the national colors, strewed with wreaths of flowers. An expression of great sorrow is visible upon every countenance. The horrible massacre seems too terrible to think of. General Canby's remains will be forwarded to Portland by this afternoon's stage in charge of the General's aid, Capt H R Anderson. They will be at Roseburg Wednesday evening. There they will be received by a special train from Portland. Dr Thomas' remains leave for Redding by private conveyance, at 2 o clock this afternoon. They cannot go by stage owing to the epizootic on the southern end of the road.

No courier has arrived from the front up to this hour 2 P M, though one is hourly expected, and we have nothing later than last evening's dispatch.

YREKA, April 14.—Every horse in Surprise, Hot Spring and Big Valleys was down with the epizootic, though there were but few fatal cases.

VALLEJO, April 14.—Last evening, Messrs Rountree and Jones were returning in a buggy from a ride on Marine street, the carriage ran into a rut and tipped the buggy, throwing Mr Rountree, who was driving, out, severely injuring him about the head and shoulders, and leaving Jones without any reins. The horse immediately started to run away. The team rounded from Marine street into Georgia street. Mr John Eagan, who was crossing the street, was knocked down by the horse and the buggy ran over him, fracturing the base of his skull. Eagan lingered until half-past ten o'clock, when he died. The horse ran as far as Armory Hall, where he came in contact with several posts, throwing Jones from the buggy, injuring his left arm to such an extent as to render it useless.

This morning, Michael Hogan was excavating under the buildings owned by Mrs Admiral Faragut, and while in a stooping posture, shovelling, the bank caved upon him, striking him upon the head and severely injuring him in the small of the back and left leg.

ST HELENA, Cal, April 14.—Sam'l Slaughter, while driving a team got off to open a gate which he wished to drive through. While doing so the team took fright and ran over him one wheel striking him in the back. He died within a few minutes. He leaves a wife and two small children.

WEAVERVILLE, Cal, April 14.—A fire broke out in the Empire Hotel in this place at half past 5 o clock this afternoon. In fifteen minutes 17 frame buildings were in flames and soon burned to the ground. The court house and other brick buildings stood the test nobly, but little damage being done to them. The loss is not less than $10,000. Insurance on losses, $2,000.

OROVILLE, April 14.—J C Baker, an old resident of Chico, while returning home this afternoon had both bones of his ankle broken by being thrown from his carriage.

MARYSVILLE April 15.—The epizootic is on the increase in this place. Nearly all the horses are affected, mostly in a mild form.

Three more cases of spotted or cerebral spinal meningitis are reported in the vicinity of Sucker Flat. One young girl died with it on Saturday and another was taken with it while returning from the funeral. The disease seems to be epidemic but not contagious, and not confined to young persons. Considerable anxiety is felt in that vicinity.

BENICIA, April 14.—The steamer Amador stopped at the Government wharf to-night and took on howitzers, ammunition of various kinds, and cavalry equipments for the Modoc country.

The surveyors of the narrow gauge railroad are at Woodland, making a branch survey preliminary to making a working survey at this place.

The Troops Preparing for Battle!

CONDITION OF MR MEACHAM!

"No Quarter!" The Battle Cry!

YREKA, April 14.—J. G. Halleck, who went out as special messenger to Ball's yesterday, with dispatches, returned this evening but brought nothing definite from the seat of war. Mr. Ball came in from Van Bremer's just as Mr. Halleck was leaving. He said there had been no fighting up to the time he left. Ammunition and supplies were being crowded forward with dispatch. The surgeons had extracted four balls from Mr. Meacham's wounds, and he was doing as well as could be expected, but there was little hope of his recovery.

There were various rumors as to when an attack would be made. Some said to day, and some to morrow. They were doubtless awaiting the arrival of the Warm Springs Indian scouts, who were to be used on the east between the lines of Gen. Gillem and Col. Mason's command, they with the cavalry making a third line, and all advancing together from north, south, east, the lake being on the west. It is believed that when the battle is fought it will be a hard one, and no quarter shown the Indians. They, with desperation, will fight terribly.

Charles Davis, deputy sheriff, arrived this afternoon from the eastern part of the county. He reports the Pitt River Indians quiet and peaceable. No fears of an outbreak or depredations by the Modocs, but should the Modocs now escape there will be danger.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Water Commissioner of Victoria receives an annual salary of $1,800. There were ten candidates.

It is thought that the Maude will be chartered to pass the next two months in searching the bays, inlets and estuaries of the Northern coast for relics of the lost steamer Geo. S. Wright.

Messrs. Grant and Arndt will run the steamboat Victoria during the coming summer; and they announce that she will leave Soda Creek every Thursday on the arrival of Barnard's Express, and Quesnelle every Monday.

Intelligence has been telegraphed from Ottawa by Mr. Nelson, (member for New Westminster), to the effect that, in the dock loading matter, such arrangements have been made as will meet the shipping interests of British Columbia.

The Colonist of the 10th says: "About 10 o'clock on Tuesday night a well known citizen who had been under restraint for some months at his residence, eluded the vigilance of his friends and made his way down to Yates street, where he entered a gun store and, locking himself in, seized a Henry rifle, charged it and began firing through the window, ceiling, walls, floor, at passers by and at neighboring buildings. One store—that of Cassamayon & Co.—received 27 Henry rifle balls through its shutters, doors and windows, the first being riddled. Greenwood & Morley's soda water factory, John Dickson's store store, Cowper's shoe store, the Phœnix Saloon, and other buildings came in for a share of the fusilade, which was kept up all night, to the great annoyance and danger of the residents in the vicinity. The police watched the house all night and in the morning, as the unfortunate man was still firing, Mr. Burnes of the American Hotel, temporarily engaged him in conversation, whilst Mr. W. H. Coy of the Colonist office procured a crowbar, broke in the back door and after a severe struggle secured the rifle and the man. He was taken to goal, and in the afternoon was committed to the Asylum for the Insane. During the raid nearly every pane of glass in the gun store was demolished and daylight now shines through innumerable holes which bullets had bored."

Snakes as Pets.

A NEW AND VIVID ILLUSTRATION OF THE POWER OF KINDNESS.

The eminent English zoologist, Mr. Frank Buckland, editor of Land and Water, tells the following extraordinary story: Snakes are regarded with horror and repugnance by the generality of mankind and womankind, and for this reason their habits and instincts have not been sufficiently studied. Snakes may be broadly divided into poisonous and not poisonous. As a rule, poisonous snakes will get out of a man's way if not attacked or insulted. I do not recommend people trying to tame poisonous snakes, nor do I advise them to charm them after the fashion of the Indian jugglers, though, as often shown, these poisonous snakes are generally "doctored" as regards their fangs before the exhibition takes place.

There is now in London a gentleman who has a charming family of pet snakes—harmless of course. This gentleman's name is Mann. He is a professor of music, and lives in Cheyne Walk, Chelsea. Mr. Mann called on me a day or two ago at my office and requested me to give him assistance, as he had got into a bother with his neighbors about keeping snakes.

Anxious to be of service to this gentleman, I called at his house to examine his snakery. He placed in the middle of the room a large box, which was carefully locked. He told me the box was always locked, unless he or his wife took out the snakes to examine them. The first he produced from the box was a very fine common British snake (Coluber natrix). His snakes have all got names, and this one's name is Julia. Julia had long ago lain thirty-six eggs, which were hatched out successfully. The next was also a common British snake. The ring round the neck was very bright in this snake. She rejoiced in the name of Sylvia. Sylvia is very good at frogs. Lately she ate nine frogs—seven large frogs and two small ones—at one meal, one after the other. Mr. Mann has also two other snakes, whose names are Proteus and Beatrice, or she of the golden hair. This modern snake charmer then dived his hand into the box and brought out an exceedingly brown colored snake. The head is remarkably pretty and lizard-like, and it has the power of moving the head very quickly from side to side; the eye is also remarkably brilliant. This snake was brought from Jamrach; it is called a Lacertine, and comes from the coast of Mogador, North Africa, it is perfectly harmless. Mr Mann has had the Lacertine about twenty months. It is a pretty, elegant creature. It feeds on white mice.

Mr. Mann then showed me the gem of his collection. It is a remarkably handsome Brazilian boa, measuring between five and six feet long, and weighing from twelve to fourteen pounds. The name of this snake is Cleo, short for Cleopatra. Continual handling and petting has caused this snake to become most remarkably tame, and I think there can be no doubt that she knows individuals. When placed on the table Cleo would not come to me at all, but glided away to her master, who was sitting at the opposite side of the table, and stretching her body from the table to the chair, gradually pulled her long length on to him. She then glided up his right side and folded her coils round his neck, placing her head close to her master's face, and there she lay for some minutes, quivering her black, forked tongue with evident pleasure. Mr. Mann's two children, aged two and six respectively, then came into the room. They immediately ran to the snake and began playing with it, kissing it, and pulling it, calling it "Cleo, dear Cleo!" Cleo was then made to glide on the floor. The children ran after her and picked her up, and the little girl picking her up, put her round her neck like a boa. (I wonder if this was the origin of the word boa?) Cleo evidently enjoyed the fun as much as the children. It was very curious to see these two children encircled in Cleo's ponderous folds, reminding me much of the celebrated statue of the Laocoon; and, if I recollect rightly, the marble children in the statue are represented as about the same age and size as Mr. Mann's two children.

Cleo is a particular favorite of Mrs. Mann's and I saw a very nice photograph of her, with Cleo coiled around her neck. I subsequently saw Mrs. Mann in this attitude with her pet snake. Cleo has shed her skin several times and it is curious to remark that she shed her skin ten times in two years. Mr. Mann has the last skin shed. It is quite perfect, and as thin as tissue paper, and I should think would make a good pattern for fancy lace work. Cleo feeds principally on pigeons. If a pigeon is put into her cage, and she is not hungry, she seems to make friends with the pigeon and will never attempt to eat it. Should, however, a fresh pigeon be put into her cage she will devour it instantly. She feeds once a fortnight, and two pigeons will about last her for this time. Mr. Mann has observed that, when let loose, Cleo always tries to climb upward, whereas the Lacertine always seeks the ground.

Cleo most certainly knows her master and mistress. Once, when they went out of town, Cleo was left behind. She pined, and would not feed during their absence. When Mr. and Mrs. Mann returned, after six weeks absence, Cleo, on hearing her mistress' voice, instantly rushed out of her box, coiled herself round her and kissed her face. She evidently recognized her kind friend and protector.

Mr. Mann has also another large Indian python, but this snake is not very well, and has private apartments to itself in a leathern carpet bag. The snakes will feed out of Mrs. Mann's hand. The common snakes eats frogs and frogs only; the Lacertine eats white mice; the python delights in guinea pigs. Altogether I was exceedingly pleased with Mr. Mann's collection of snakes. By his very successful snake-taming he has opened up quite a new chapter in natural history, and has shown what persevering kindness will do in taming snakes, poor creatures, which have hitherto been thought to have little or no intelligence.

The proclamation of Governor Washburn, of Massachusetts, appointing a day of fasting and prayer, is a very sensible and devout document. The Governor says:

Two hundred and fifty years ago, this season, the authorities of our infant commonwealth first set apart a day for fasting and prayer, to the end that public recognition might be made of God's overruling power, and the historians of the time record that signal blessings followed the observance of the day. Conformably to the custom then originating, I request the people of Massachusetts thus to observe Thursday, the 3d day of April next, abstaining on that day from their accustomed business and pleasure, and, assembling in their several places of worship, let them unitedly implore our Heavenly Father to spare us during the current year from fire, pestilence, and famine; to bless us abundantly in our industries, and in our efforts for the promotion of order and sobriety; to inspire us with a broader and more thoughtful charity, and keep our hearts open from the sins of envy and malice; to uphold us in all honorable and virtuous purposes, and prosper our every endeavor for the diminution of vice and crime; to give us a deeper reverence for law, a nobler regard for our liberties and obligations, and a higher appreciation of education and citizenship, and to enliven us with such a sense of responsibility to the divine commandments, that we may walk uprightly before God, and more and more manifest the spirit which was in Christ.

The Sacramento Union of April 9th., has this item:

Holly, who is superintending the erection of the Holly water works in this city, has received a letter stating that that system of works has been introduced into the city of Memphis and was recently successfully tested there—ten hydrant streams being thrown simultaneously, and reaching a hight ranging from 110 to 155 feet. The Memphis works are much larger than those of this city, but Holly declares that the Sacramento pumps will throw just as good streams as those mentioned above, if the water pipe can stand the pressure.

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 15, 1873

A Unanimous Verdict of Indignation

We have seldom witnessed such a unanimity of sentiment in the community upon any subject as that which was manifested at the mass meeting yesterday in regard to that method of dealing with the Modoc Indians which made the massacre of the Commission possible. The dispatch published this morning by which it appears that the policy of the Government has been changed and that the Modocs are to be punished with such rigorous severity as their treachery merits will not fail to awaken a response of hearty approval throughout this State.

That the Government has been greatly deceived and misled in regard to the condition of affairs at the seat of these troubles has been clearly manifest from the first. The people of this coast who were practically acquainted with the character of the Indians, have expected nothing but mischief from the Peace Commission whatever may have been the difference of opinion existing among them in regard to the circumstances out of which the revolt arose. When the war had once broken out they knew it was too late to talk of securing peace by any means that did not contemplate the subjugation of the revolted bands of Indians. Other views prevailed at the Capital of the nation however and we have seen most painful demonstration of the correctness of the views entertained in this country. A policy of just and humane treatment of the Indians has distinguished the administration of President Grant. That policy has proved, not a failure but a success. But it is a policy applicable, and heretofore applied, only to the case of Indians on Reservations, and who were in some sort under subjection to the whites. The attempt to apply it to a tribe or band engaged in actual hostility to the whites was a fatal mistake and one into which the authorities at the Capital of the nation could hardly have fallen, except they had been grossly misinformed as to the facts in the premises.

A B Meacham

It will be seen by the dispatches published this morning that there is little probability of the recovery of Hon A B Meacham from the effect of the wounds received by him at the time of the murder of Gen Canby and Commissioner Thomas. It seems to be generally understood that Mr Meacham had much to do in setting on foot this Modoc Peace Commission, and there is no question that he had an overweening confidence in the honesty of Captain Jack, for on his arrival at Yreka from the East, and before the Commission were ready for action, he remarked, if he was correctly reported, that he regarded Captain Jack "as an honorable man." That he did truly believe in the Peace Commission scheme he has evidenced at the cost of his own life. There has been a great deal of denunciation of Mr. Meacham indulged in from the beginning of this Modoc business, and we have been, and are of the opinion, that the whole affair has been the greatest mistake of all Mr Meacham's extensive dealings with the Indian Department and the management of the tribes upon this north coast. But we can not but feel sorry to hear the bitter denunciation of Mr. Meacham which was common before this horrible assassination, and has been still more frequent since. He pays with his life the penalty of his mistake, and it is but human to give him pity now, instead of anger. The error was his, but not his alone. He was only one of many who united their efforts to inaugurate the policy which has been pursued to this fatal termination, and he is the only one among them whose death is made an illustration of the unwisdom of this mode of dealing with treacherous savages.

Swamp Lands in Oregon

The subjoined letters from the Commissioners of the General Land Office at Washington are furnished to us for publication, through the kindness of Mr Samuel J Tallman, to whom they are addressed. A statement of the circumstances which gave rise to the correspondence between Mr. Tallman and the Commissioners, will explain the allusion at the close of the second letter to a deed returned by the latter. Mr. Tallman writes us that a part of the land for which he held a patent from the United States was located by certain swamp-land speculators under the swamp-land act of 1870. They then threatened to enforce their claims against Mr Tallman unless he bought them off, which after much annoyance he did, paying them $200 for their claim and taking their deed. But he did not rest satisfied after he had bought his place as the correspondence shows. The deed which he obtained from the swamp land speculators is the instrument alluded to by the acting commission, it having been forwarded to him for his inspection.

Mr. Tallman has given us the names of the parties with whom he had those dealings, but as the facts in the case and the legal decision thereon, and not the names of parties, are the matters chiefly important to the public, we refrain from mentioning the names. The meaning of the letters can not be mistaken.

GENERAL LAND OFFICE
WASHINGTON, D C, Jan 27, 1873

Samuel W Tallman, Esq , Westport, Oregon—Sir In reply to your letter of the 6th inst , relative to the selection of swamp lands in the State of Oregon, you are informed that no swamp land selections have been regularly reported to this office by the State authorities of Oregon, and until this is done we can take no action in the matter.

Very respectfully,
Your ob't serv't,
WILLIS DRUMMOND,
Commissioner

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
GENERAL LAND OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, March 15 1873

S W. Tallman, Esq , Westport, Oregon—Sir Your letter of February 23d, in reference to lands in sections 26 and 27 T. 8 , N R 6 W , Oregon, is received, and in reply I have to state that it appears that said township was surveyed before March 12th, 1860. The act of Congress approved March 12th, 1860, extended the swamp grant to the States of Minnesota and Oregon with certain restrictions, one of which was that in townships surveyed before that date the State should make selections of swamp lands within two years from the adjournment of the first Legislature which met after the passage of the act.

The Legislature of Oregon met in September 1860, and the time in which swamp lands could have been selected expired in 1864. So far as this office is advised the State never made any selections of swamp lands in said township or any other, consequently the State has not even the shadow of a title to any lands therein under the swamp grant and had no legal authority to convey title to any of the lands as swamp. Any title, therefore, purporting to be derived from the State on sale of such land as swamp, is void and worthless.

The deed enclosed with your letter is herewith returned. Very respectfully,
Your ob't serv't,
W W CURTIS
Acting Commissioner

The New York Herald says In those Congressional districts where the back pay grab Congressmen are indorsed, the question in future will not be, 'Is he honest?—is he capable?' but, 'How long is his arm?'

The question of railroad tariffs is still before the Illinois Legislature. The decision of the Supreme Court of that State (of which mention was made in our dispatches several weeks since) has made it an exceedingly difficult task to frame a measure in accordance with the doctrine set forth therein. An exchange informs us that Mr. Donahue, a member of the House of Representatives of Illinois, is the author of a bill which it is believed is free from the Constitutional objections which have hitherto been fatal to all legislation on the subject named. His bill provides that any railroad demanding an extortionate rate of compensation for the transportation of any freight or making unjust discriminations in its charges, shall for the first offense be subject to a fine of $5,000; for the second offense to a fine of $10,000; for the third $20,000, for the fourth $40,000; and for each and every offense thereafter $100,000. To each party aggrieved or injured by such unjust rates it gives a right of action for $1,000.

These severe penalties if once enforced, ought to serve the people of Illinois as a guard against the outrageous discriminations which induced them. It is a fact that certain railway companies in that State charged quite as much per ton for freight sent 10 miles as for that sent twenty and even thirty miles.

The school election a week since, and the business meeting last night have demonstrated that the amendments of the last Legislature are a vast improvement upon the law as it stood before. We had an orderly election in which all voters who desired to express their preferences for Director and Clerk had an opportunity to do so, and we had a business meeting in which there was little of the rabble element present, and the business was transacted with as much decency and in as good order as it could have been with a presiding officer possessing so little of the skill and readiness that experience in such positions alone can impart. It is easy to see where other improvements might be made, but it is something to be able to chronicle evident progress.

One rises from a contemplation of the South Carolina Legislature impressed with the conviction that "old things have passed away, and behold! all things are become new." The House of Representatives contains 124 members,—94 negroes, 23 whites of the old school, and 7 white carpet bag (or carpet bag white) members. An exchange says that the blacks do all the talking and have all the officers of the House from Speaker and Clerk down to the pages. A correspondent who recently visited this body, states that many of the colored members are of the true Congo type, and some of them look as if they had been imported as slaves from Africa. Which is why we remark that the redressing political wrongs in the South is a wonderful business.

The Illinois Farmers' State Convention met April 2d, and organized for war on monopoly. They propose to give the railroads a hard tussle. Conventions are to be formed in Iowa, Wisconsin and Indiana, and the farmers of Missouri have announced that they will hold a State Convention "to protect their interests by organizing a compact body" to that end. The battle has begun in earnest. It is needless to repeat what we have so often said that our sympathies are with the farmers.

To the protean ingenuity of a New York lady, fashionable society owes a debt for the invention of the "moonlight party." It is announced that this discerning matron will give a moonlight German, as soon as "the young May moon" is old enough. This "young May moon" will be expected to illumine the scene, for it is said "that there will be no light in the parlors, except that of the moon streaming through the windows"—which is a very poetic way of expressing one's lunacy.

Leavenworth (Kansas) dispatches mention the murder of a party of surveyors by Whirlwind's band of marauding Cheyennes. The massacre was committed on the 19th March, and the victims were Daniel Short, E M Deming, of Arkansas City, J A Davis of Chillicothe, Mo , and an Englishman named Robert Pool. An expedition has been organized at Arkansas City to go to the relief of surveying parties on the Cinnamon. There is great excitement on the frontier.

Mr. Charles Francis Adams' account as Arbitrator on the part of the United States before the Geneva Tribunal has just been closed. He receives the neat little sum of $22,500 gold for one year's service. His bill includes his traveling expenses, which amount to $5,000. As to his pay proper, he received the same pay that he received as Minister to England.

The Harrisburg correspondent of Forney's Press says that there is to be a new movement in the politics of Pennsylvania. It is proposed to form a combination of Regular Republicans, Democrats and Liberals to secure an honest election in 1874. A thorough regeneration of parties is looked to as the only means of protection against fraud.

In criticizing the Budget of Chancellor Lowe, in the House of Commons, a few days since, Sir Winfred Lawson remarked that "the Government held on to the malt and spirit taxes and it was evident that habitual drunkards were the sheet anchors of the British Constitution."

There was a grain of sense, perhaps in the irreligious sentiment which a New England deacon recently found in a contribution for the heathen missionaries accompanying one dollar and a cent. "The cent is for the heathen, and the dollar is to pay for getting it to them," said the disbelieving donor.

The New York Herald of March 30th was a wonder of journalism, it was a quadruple sheet with supplement, and contained one hundred and eight columns, sixty-seven of which were filled with advertisements. As an illustration of the Herald's enormous business, this is most astounding.

The New Jersey Senate has killed a bill copied from the Ohio law, making the liquor dealer responsible for damages resulting from his traffic and imposing heavy penalties upon persons leasing or renting premises for the sale of intoxicating drinks.

HONOR TO THE DEAD

MEETING OF THE COMMON COUNCIL

Pursuant to a call by the Mayor the Common Council of the city of Portland met in special session at 2 P M April 14th, His Honor the Mayor presiding. When the roll had been called, Mayor Wasserman said

Gentlemen of the Common Council We have come together to-day to give expression to the deep sorrow that has fallen upon the people of this city in the untimely death of our esteemed friend General Canby and the Reverend Eleazar Thomas [illegible]

Though I have not the ability at my command to do justice to the merits and great virtues of our departed friend, who, among numbers of good and true officers of the United States army, was, to my idea, the noblest of them all, whose fair name and reputation for integrity stand as pure as the driven snow, I cannot refrain from referring to some of the great services which he rendered to our common country. When, after many a hard fought battle in the recent civil war, peace, at last, came to our stricken land, his mission was to carry out in some of the lately rebellious States the reconstruction laws, and conscientiously, impartially and judiciously did he acquit himself of that delicate task as to endear himself to all parties, and when that mission was ended no personal enmities marred the pleasure of his consciousness of duty well performed.

In our own fair city he will live in our memory as an example of benevolence, piety and integrity.

When in December last the fire was raging in our midst he kindly volunteered all the assistance in his power. After consulting with other officers of the city, I sent word that in case of necessity I would avail myself of the offer. A short time later I applied for help, and immediately the General telegraphed to Ft Vancouver for troops. After our firemen had gained control of the flames, I called upon the General to thank him for his generous efforts in behalf of our citizens, and to say to him that we should not, in all probability require his further assistance. He answered that he would hold the troops over here till the succeeding day, in order that they might be in readiness to render service in case of an emergency.

Gentlemen, the meeting is open and ready for such proceedings as you may deem it proper to take.

Councilman Hill said

Mr President: The occasion which has called us together at this time is one of such peculiar and painful interest that no words of mine can express the feelings which pervade the entire community. I might, however, attempt to pay an humble tribute to the memory of the two great and good men who have fallen at their post of duty, were it not that a mass meeting of our citizens had been appointed for this hour at Oro Fino Hall for the same purpose as calls this body together, and I feel assured your Honor, as well as the members of this Council, desire to participate in that meeting.

I have prepared some resolutions, short, hastily drawn, and wholly inadequate, as I am too painfully conscious, as an expression of the sadness which this event has cast upon our city, and upon the entire Pacific Coast. I have embraced in these resolutions something more than a mere passing reference to Dr Thomas, for although not a resident of our city or State, he was one of those Christian laborers whom an entire nation may well claim. As eminent as General Canby was for his integrity and kindness, for his simplicity of manner and his greatness of heart, for his unostentatious benevolence and Christian charity, Dr Thomas was not less eminent for his earnestness and zeal in the cause to which his life was devoted, for his unyielding perseverance in whatsoever he undertook, and for his wisdom in council. Indeed, he was recognized in the Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church in California, as one whose mature wisdom entitled him to be reckoned the counsellor of the wisest men in the denomination.

I will not attempt to recount at length the noble deeds of these two noble men who have laid down their lives in the endeavor to give the blessings of peace to those whose hands have slain them, and whose respective lines of duty, so divergent, in many important respects, but both equally deserving the recompense of true heroism, conveyed at last to their first meeting in the valley of death, but I will simply read and move the adoption of the following resolutions

Resolved, That this Council has received with deep sorrow the intelligence of the assassination of Brigadier General Edward R S Canby and Reverend Eleazar Thomas, D D , while engaged in the discharge of their official duties in connection with the Peace Commission to the Modoc Indians

Resolved That in the death of General Canby this community has lost a most estimable and beloved member, and the nation a brave and true soldier.

Resolved, That the loss of Dr Thomas creates a vacancy in the ranks of those who devote their talents and their lives to the interests of morality and religion, which it will be difficult to fill

Resolved, That a Committee, consisting of his Honor the Mayor of the City, and three members of this Council, be appointed to co operate with the military authorities of the United States in the reception of the remains of General Canby, and in making the necessary arrangements for the funeral

Resolved, That this Council tender its sympathy to the family of Gen Canby, in this the deepest affliction that could fall upon them

Councilman Hallock said he would not allow the occasion to pass without expressing his feelings in regard to the active interests taken by the illustrious deceased in the protection of our city from the ravages of the great fire of December 22, 1872. Gen. Canby generously tendered every effort which he might be able to make to the city authorities by telegraphing to Vancouver for troops to guard the property of private citizens and to aid in subduing the flames. By this act, if by no other, he showed himself to be the friend of the people and the friend of our city. The Councilman also took occasion to denounce the policy pursued by the authorities in dealing with the savages, which policy had resulted in such a loss as the people and the nation sustained in the death of so great and good a man and so brave a soldier. He thought the citizens en masse should utter their condemnation of such a terrible mistake as was made in the effort to obtain peace with murderers and robbers by offering such terms.

The question then being upon the adoption of the resolutions offered by Councilman Hill, they were unanimously adopted. The Mayor then appointed as members of the Committee called for by the resolution, Councilmen Hill, Congle and Hallock.

On motion, the Council adjourned

MEETING OF THE CITIZENS

MASS MEETING HELD AT ORO FINO THEATER BY THE CITIZENS OF PORTLAND.

In pursuance of a liberal announcement, a large number of the citizens of Portland assembled at Oro Fino Theater to take some public measures in relation to the recent massacre committed by the murderous Modocs, and also to pass consolatory resolutions to the memory of the late Gen E R S Canby.

Colonel Dennison arose and stated that if the audience would be patient for a few minutes, the City Council, which was in session at that time, would adjourn, and that His Honor the Mayor would preside at the deliberation of the meeting.

A few minutes after half past two o'clock, the Mayor, accompanied by the members of the Common Council, entered the hall, and advanced to the rostrum. The meeting was called to order by Mayor Wasserman who made it the occasion to remark that the object of the mass meeting was to give a sorrowful expression of the deep calamity which had so suddenly fallen on the country in the cruel massacre of Gen Canby, who in life had commanded the esteem, confidence and love of all; and who in death, was so universally lamented. Others were present who were much more able to speak of the many noble qualities of the great and honored dead, and he would attempt no further remarks, leaving the performance of that sad duty to other speakers. The Common Council, which had just adjourned, had passed resolutions of condolence, and had in addition appointed a committee of three persons who would, on the arrival of the remains, take charge of the same in behalf of the city, in conjunction with the military. The body was expected to arrive in Portland on Thursday. A special train would leave the city and proceed to Roseburg to carry the remains to Portland. The committee would take the train southward and formally receive the body, and in conjunction with the military bring it to the city.

At the conclusion of Mayor Wasserman's remarks Col David Taggart was called for.

That gentleman stated he had not attended the meeting with a desire to make any remarks whatever on the present melancholy occasion. He was the bearer of a request from the bereaved and stricken widow of Gen Canby. She had desired him to state to the meeting that it was her most earnest request, that no public demonstrations should be made over the remains of her husband. It was her sincere desire that the reception of the body and the attendant funeral obsequies which would follow, be conducted as privately as the circumstances would allow. Col Taggart stated in addition, that arrangements had been effected by which the remains will lie in state from 12 M to 4 o'clock P M , on Thursday. This would afford the public an opportunity to take a farewell view of the departed soldier.

W W Page then moved that the meeting proceed to the business before it by the selection of a President and Secretary. He moved that Mayor Wasserman be chosen as Chairman of the meeting, which motion unanimously prevailed.

Mr J H Logan moved that W Lair Hill act as Secretary, which motion also prevailed.

Mr. James O'Meara moved that the President appoint a committee of five persons, who were to draft resolutions expressive of the public feelings of the meeting. The motion prevailed.

The Chairman appointed as such committee James O'Meara, W Lair Hill, Geo L Curry, E Goldsmith, Revs A L Lindsley and G W Izer.

Mr O'Meara stated that although he had been named by the President as Chairman of the Committee he declined to act as Chairman in favor of Rev Mr Lindsley who had also been placed on the Committee. That gentleman, however, was found to be absent on his name being called, and Mr O'Meara acted as Chairman of the Committee.

Mr Page moved that the President appoint a committee of ten citizens of Portland, who were authorized to act in conjunction with a committee appointed by the Common Council, and the military, in receiving the remains of the dead.

Mr Logan moved to amend by allowing each military organization and civic society the privilege of adding one person to such committee.

Mr Simpson arose and stated that he thought there must exist some misunderstanding in the mind of the gentleman who made the motion. If such motion was to prevail, it would be in direct violation of the expressed wishes of Mrs Canby. She desired that the funeral obsequies be attended with as little ostentation as possible. The appointment of such a large Committee, he felt assured he would not meet with the desires of the widow.

Judge Strong stated that he heartily indorsed the views entertained by Mr Simpson. He strongly objected to the motion, in view of the expressed request of Mrs Canby. The remains would lay in state for several hours, which would afford ample time for all our citizens to pay their last tribute of love and respect to the memory of the departed hero. Delegations of honor could be detailed from the several military companies of the city, and also civic associations, who could act with the Committee already appointed, if necessary and desirable.

Mr Simpson moved that the motion as amended be laid on the table. The motion, with but few dissenting votes, prevailed. During the interval following, while the Committee on Resolutions was engaged on their report, Judge Strong came forward in response to frequent calls and addressed the audience a few minutes.

He spoke in brief but touching terms of the many sterling qualities of the dead soldier. Although his acquaintance had been confined to but a few years, he had found him a brave soldier, an honorable, exemplary, and high minded citizen, and a true, stainless Christian gentleman. In all the varied relations of life, Gen Canby was an ornament to the country he had so long and so nobly served. No man connected with the American army more thoroughly comprehended the relations of the Soldier to the Citizen, and none ever entertained a more profound respect for the sacredness of the rights of the people. As a soldier, General Canby knew nothing but to strictly obey orders, and he had done so at the sacrifice of his valuable life. His tragical death would produce a profound sensation throughout the nation.

Mr. Page was called for next. He came forward and paid a very brief but beautiful tribute to the memory of the noble soldier who had fallen a victim to Indian treachery.

At the close of Mr Page's remarks, the Chairman announced that the Committee on Resolutions was ready to make their report. The Chairman of the Committee came forward and read the following resolutions

WHEREAS, By one of the most atrocious acts of treachery conjoined with murder known in the world's history, a great Captain of our armies and a beloved fellow countryman, together with others has been suddenly stricken into death while in the performance of duty to his Government and in the endeavor to save his slayers from the swift vengeance of an outraged people, Therefore be it

Resolved That the diabolical slaughter of General Canby and the Rev Eleazer Thomas, and the murderous intent upon the lives of Mr A. B Meacham and Lieutenant Sherwood, near the Military Camp in the Modoc country on Friday, April 11th, require the immediate attention of the Government at Washington, and should be punished to the utmost rigor and extremity, even to the extermination of the rebellious and savage perpetrators and their accessories, and to this end the citizens of Oregon, here in Portland assembled, pray that the President of the United States will adopt the quickest and most effectual measures to avenge the blood of their fallen countrymen.

Resolved, That by the death of General Canby the United States Army has lost one of its noblest soldiers and ablest commanders, the Nation one of its most patriotic defenders and worthiest sons, and his countrymen everywhere one of their most faithful champions and devoted friends.

Resolved, That to manifest our high appreciation of the late General Canby the citizens of Portland will close their places of business and observe other tokens of profound regard and deep sorrow on the occasion of his obsequies here.

Resolved, That we tender to the mourning and heart-stricken widow of the noble dead our most earnest condolement.

Resolved, That we likewise tender to the widowed and orphaned others who have been bereaved by this savage treachery and massacre, our heartfelt sorrow and sympathy.

Resolved That we, the citizens of Portland, in mass meeting assembled, denounce with unqualified indignation and with unreserved reprobation the attitude and conduct of those in or out of authority, officials and journalists and utterers of public sentiment, who have sought to cast stigma on the people of Oregon for their part in this Modoc difficulty, and who have insisted upon or advocated the trifling, impractical, mistaken and finally criminal policy of peace and amicable treaty with the rebellious and murderous savages. That we have before us the awful and most bloody fruits of that fatal, sinful policy, in the slaughter of the great and noble and honored victims whom the Nation and this people are now called upon to mourn. And that we protest that no longer shall that most mischievous, false and dangerous policy be practiced by the Government in its treatment of hostile and implacable savage tribes.

Resolved That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the President of the United States, and that the daily newspapers of this city and the press of Oregon be requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting.

Mr Denny moved that the resolutions as read be adopted, which was carried by a most tumultuous affirmative.

Mr. W Lair Hill was introduced to the audience and spoke for a few moments. In the course of his address, Mr. Hill, after paying a very handsome tribute to the memory of the departed, and reviewing his military career and the eminent services he had rendered the country, related several instances in the life of Gen. Canby, illustrative of his firmness, humanity, and nobleness of character. He alluded to his prompt and decided action at the time of the great fire in Portland last December, in proffering all the assistance in his power to protect property, and save the city from destruction. Several other circumstances were related by the speaker. He alluded to the many kind and disinterested acts of charity performed by Gen. Canby, wherein he had ministered to the comfort, and relieved the wants of the needy and distressed in this city. None but those most intimately acquainted with him knew of his many acts of benevolence.

Mr Hill was followed by Mr O'Meara, who spoke in eloquent and feeling terms of the lamented dead.

At the close of Mr O'Meara's remarks, the meeting adjourned.

Imagine the tumult of emotion which swept over that Merrimac (N. H) town-meeting the other day, when a school committee read its annual report, beginning as follows

Fellow Citizens Since last we were called on to report the condition of schools, we unconsciously have been moving through space at the rapid rate of about sixty-nine thousand miles per hour, at the mean distance of ninety three millions of miles from the fountain head of light. As we have been moving in a circular plane orbit, we are to-day at the same distance from the sun of our solar system that we were a year ago, no farther, no nearer. And how will this compare, you will ask, with the condition of our schools in reference to the fountain head of knowledge? We will try and give a true, faithful and impartial report. You desire no learned disquisition nothing but simple facts, etc.

The editor of the Castroville (Cal) Argus is a thorough going believer in Ben Butler. The General has written a letter embodying his ideas on shell fish and their influence on American citizenship. The Argus commends the fearless opinion of the General in this paragraph

We have been shown a letter from General Butler, member of Congress, to a citizen of Monterey in which he says that no man owns the sea, and that the right of anybody to gather abalones, or other shell fish, from the rocks lining the beach is clear, and cannot be gainsaid, no matter whose lands the water covering them washes. On a question of this nature, we opine Gen Butler is good authority.

The Chairman of the Rhode Island State Central Prohibitory Committee has a correct idea about "persistent suffrages." During the recent campaign, he issued a circular calling upon the prohibitionists to vote for Latimer W Ballou notwithstanding his declination, and remarked that "if elected by the persistent suffrages of intelligent and virtuous citizens, he will doubtless reciprocate the honor by bearing the burdens incident to it." He ought to

CITY.

Case of Distress.—At the meeting of the Board of Trustees for East Portland last evening Mr. Vancleave brought to the notice of the Board a rather sad case of sickness and want, and asked that some immediate action in the premises be taken. On last Sunday evening a lady residing in Holladay's Addition while out in quest of a cow which had strayed away, entered an old dilapidated barn to look for the animal. To her surprise she found a man lying in the building on a heap of straw, apparently very sick. He was partially delirious and entirely helpless. His head had swollen to immoderate proportions and he was totally blind. Food was brought him but he was unable to eat any. The man's name is O'Neil. He is a common laborer, has neither means nor friends, and has lain since Friday in the barn without food, drink or medical attendance. The case was reported to the City Marshal who called the attention of Mr. Van Cleave to the matter. The Board referred the disposal of the case to the Committee on Health and Police with full authority to do whatever might be deemed necessary. The Committee ordered the man to be speedily removed to more comfortable quarters, a bed, and medical attendance provided. The case will be more carefully investigated to-day, and if the person is a fit subject for the County Hospital, he will be removed thence without further delay.

The Way to get Rich.—Mr. William McCormick is canvassing this city for subscriptions to a book that purposes to solve the old problem on which the great majority of the whole world have been so long at work with but indifferent success, namely, how to get rich. The book is by James D. Mills, issued under the auspices of the International Publishing Company of New York, copyrighted both in England and America, and bears the title "The Art of Making Money." It is a volume of nearly 150 octavo pages, and is to be delivered to subscribers for $3 25. The book is well got up, and has a large number of portraits of the successful money makers of the world, such as Baron Rothschild, Commodore Vanderbilt, Horace B. Claflin, George Peabody and others. It narrates how these men made their lives so successful, in money-getting, thus instructing by example. But this is not all, for the author goes into an examination of the theory of money making as a science. We do not accept without allowance, Dr. Gunn's proposition that "every man of sound health and unimpaired mind may become rich;" but we do believe that much can be learned by careful study of the lives of those who have been eminently successful.

A Well Known Musician Drowned.—From an exchange we learn that Prof. Guido Grob, the leader of the orchestra with W. M. Holland's dramatic company in the West Indies, was drowned on February 21st, just as the company were sailing from the island of St. Kitts. He was sitting on the dog house smoking a cigarette, when he was observed to fall backward and overboard. There was scarcely a breath of air at the time, and although the vessel immediately hove to and a boat was lowered in less than a minute, nothing could be seen of him, and it is thought that he never rose to the surface. It was discovered by his papers that he had an uncle residing in Newark, N. J., and his effects were forwarded to him. He came to New York some years ago from California with the British Blondes, then under the management of Sheridan Corbyn. He is said to have been a fine musician. Prof. Grob resided some years in Portland. About three years ago he left this city and went East. He was a very accomplished musician, and leaves many friends and acquaintances here who will deeply regret to learn of his untimely death.

An Enterprising Firm.—The large house of N. & G. Taylor Co., of Philadelphia, who import greater quantities of tin plate than any other similar establishment in that city, are among the first merchants to subscribe to the Centennial stock. They are making energetic efforts to make known that they will exhibit their wares at the celebration, having issued 12,000 postal cards, on which is printed the following:

ESTABLISHED 1810.
N. & G. TAYLOR CO.,
PHILADELPHIA.
Importers of Tin Plate. Originators of 23x23. Sole Importers of Continuous Roofing,
Bright and Leaded.
Thicknesses ox 2, 3, 4; Widths, 10, 14, 20, 28, 30, 40 inches; Length, 200 feet
LIVERPOOL, LONDON AND PHILADELPHIA,
301, 303, 305 Branch street.
Warehouses, Dock street, Granite street, Levant street.

Other devices have been resorted to by this great firm to this end, and visitors to the Centennial Celebration will, without doubt, make it an object to visit this house. This is certainly a live house as the above will indicate.

Another Fatal Accident.—A gentleman from Oak Point, Washington Territory, has handed us the following particulars of an accident at that place, on Saturday, which resulted fatally to a young man named Thos. Lynch, aged 20 years, who was employed in the saw mill at Oak Point. In attempting to put on a belt, his sleeve was caught by a set screw on a small shaft, which wound him up, killing him instantly. His neck was broken by striking a scantling as he went round. The body was brought to Portland on the Rescue yesterday, and taken to his brother in law's—Mr. Rankin's—corner Fifth and D. The funeral will take place this morning.

The Coming Lecture.—Rev. Mr. Bowers, of Salem, is advertised to speak at Masonic Hall on next Saturday evening. Mr. Bowers, as a speaker, has few equals on this coast, and without doubt this lecture will be the best delivered in this city for years. It is probable that the following week Rev. Mr. Izer will deliver one or more of his invincible lectures. We hope to see the largest audiences greet these eloquent speakers.

To be Announced.—In the U. S. District Court the opinion of Judge Deady in the case of Joseph Knott vs. the steamer Vancouver, will be announced this morning.

Removed.—E. D. Backinstos, City Treasurer, has removed his office from Corbett's building to the Odd Fellow's Temple, Room No. 1.

PERSONAL.

Judge Strong left for the Dalles this morning.

Mr. Bernard Lewis, who has been "doing" the Sound, returned yesterday. He reports business improving over there.

On the hotels' registers last evening, we found the names of Judge Humason of the Dalles, Hon Hiram Smith of Harrisburg, Dr J H Day of Walla Walla, F. B. Dunn of Eugene, John Bost of Freeport, John Gaso, Indian Agent at Alsea Valley Agency, and Wm. Leigh of Victoria.

IN MEMORIAM

Headquarters Baker Post No. 1,
Department of Oregon, G. A. R.,
Portland, April 16th, 1873.

At a special meeting of this Post, Commander Joseph La Grand in the Chair, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, This Post has with indignation and profound sorrow received the sad intelligence of the assassination of Gen. Ed R. S. Canby by the treacherous Modoc Indians while endeavoring, with his high sense of justice and humanity, to conclude an honorable and abiding peace with them; therefore be it

Resolved, That by the untimely death of Gen. Canby the nation loses a noble and gallant soldier, the record of whose services are written, not only on the pages of history, but more lastingly in the hearts of his grateful countrymen, the army loses one of its brightest ornaments, society a true christian gentleman, and the Grand Army of the Republic a comrade, whose memory will live in their hearts until the last member of that Order shall have passed away.

Resolved, That we tender to the bereaved widow of the illustrious dead that sympathy which words are inadequate to express, but which lies deep in our hearts.

Resolved, That it is our sincere prayer that the Supreme Commander will bestow upon her His infinite love, and give her strength to bear her great trial.

Resolved, That the colors of this Post be draped in mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the widow of Gen Canby, and to the papers of this city for publication, and that the same be spread upon the records of the Post.

JOSEPH LA GRAND,
Post Commander.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING.

FOR BUSINESS PURPOSES.

A large number of the citizen taxpayers of the District assembled at the Central School building last evening pursuant to the call by the Board of Directors. The meeting was called to order by J. S Giltner, as Chairman of the Board, who stated that the first business would be the reading of the minutes of the last annual meeting and the annual reports of the Directors and Clerk. The minutes being read by Mr. O. F. Bell, were approved.

The reports of the Directors and Clerk were then read.

After the reports were read a series of motions were made, to which cross motions, motions to lay on the table, to refer, to amend, and amend amendments, etc., etc., were made, some being carried, some lost, some never seconded, and some seconded that the Chairman neglected to put to the house; in fact, the entire proceedings were so completely jumbled together and mixed by one motion being made while another was pending, or three or four motions pending at the same time, that it was nearly a matter of impossibility to tell the various motions that were carried from those that were lost, more particularly as on several occasions votes were taken and the results were not announced. The proceedings, however, were, as to their more important points, about as follows:

REFERENCE OF THE REPORTS.

Mr. O'Meara moved that the reports of the Directors and Clerk be referred to a committee of three, to be appointed by the Chairman, which was seconded and immediately put to the house, carried, and the Chair appointed Messrs. O. B. Gibson, Thos Frazar and L. H. Lewis.

But Mr. C. P. Bacon thought that the motion was put through in too much of a hurry, and that the people wished, and ought to have something to say in regard to the matter.

Mr Phil Cohen moved to reconsider the vote by which the motion to refer the reports to a committee to be appointed by the Chair was carried. The motion to reconsider prevailed.

Mr. H. Y. Thompson moved to amend by referring the reports to a committee appointed by the meeting.

Mr. O'Meara moved that the committee be elected by ballot.

The motion to elect by ballot was put and voted down.

Mr. Ladd regretted that he felt called upon to say anything in regard to the reports. As for that of the Directors, he did not understand that as well as they did, but as for the Clerk's, he was willing to submit it to the investigations of any man or committee.

Mr. O'Meara called Mr. Ladd to order, and he took his seat without a decision by the Chair on Mr. O'Meara's point of order.

Mr. Thompson having made the motion that the committee be appointed by the meeting, felt called upon to explain his reasons. He said in substance, that an appointment by the Chair would be an unprecedented proceeding, as the committee was to be called on to investigate the actions of the gentlemen into whose hands the original motion proposed to put the appointing power. He thought the appointment by the meeting would give the most general satisfaction.

The question being put on Mr. Thompson's amendment, it was carried.

Several gentlemen were then nominated as members of the committee, some of whom declined, and Messrs Wm Wadhams, D1 Quackenbush and C. P Bacon were chosen as the committee.

A CHEAPER SYSTEM WANTED.

Rev. J. L. Daly thought it would be a good plan to appoint a committee to make an examination, ascertain and report, if the same amount of instruction could not be imparted under another system at one half the expense now annually incurred. He believed it could be done under the Lancastershire system, which he had practiced for twenty years with much success. He, however, made no motion and that matter was dropped.

CALL READ.

The Clerk here read the call under which the present meeting was held, a proceeding which some one suggested would have been in order at an earlier hour in the evening.

GERMAN TEACHER.

Mr. Cohen moved that the sum of $1,200 be added to the Directors' estimate of expenditures during the coming year to pay the salary of a teacher of the German language.

Mr. F Dekum stated his views of the provisions of the law in reference to the subject matter of the motion, and thought that if one hundred tax payers petitioned the Board of Directors to employ such a teacher no action of the meeting could affect the matter one way or another.

Mr Cohen said the amount might be added to the estimate of expenditures and raised and the matter of obtaining the names of petitioners could be attended to afterward.

Col Dennison thought the meeting was unable to vote intelligibly on the various questions of employing teachers, making repairs and levying a tax, without a more complete report than the one presented by the Board. He asked for further particulars on those subjects.

Mr Ladd explained the report of the Directors as to the amount of money received, showing that the receipts from the County and State were much less than in former years.

Mr. Hill thought that the committee to which the reports had been referred would furnish such information as was desired. And he, therefore, as a friend of the idea of employing a German teacher, would like to see the motion made by Mr. Cohn laid on the table until the committee could report at a future meeting.

The chairman stated that a petition signed by 100 tax payers, asking for a German teacher had been received by the Directors, but on account of a lack of funds they had not employed a teacher of German. Mr. Hill moved to lay the motion on the table, which prevailed.

A motion was then made, that when the meeting adjourned, it adjourn to meet on the 28th inst. at the same place. Carried.

MORE WORK FOR THE COMMITTEE.

Mr O'Meara then moved that the committee appointed to examine and report upon the Directors' and Clerk's report, have power to examine all accounts of moneys collected and expended by the officers of the district during the year, and the use to which such moneys were applied. The motion prevailed.

NO MORE MUSIC.

Mr. P. W Gillette moved that the music teacher in the Public Schools be discharged.

Some questions here arose as to the power of the meeting to discharge a teacher employed by the Directors.

Mr P. C. Schuyler moved as a substitute that it is the sense of this meeting that the music teacher be discharged.

Col. Dennison thought that the people ought to have power to direct the Directors.

Mr. Gillette was substantially of the same opinion.

Mr. James Wilson inquired what was the cost of the musical instruction received by the children and thought that if it was too dear it should be dispensed with, but if we were getting it cheap the teacher should be retained.

The Chair. The salary is $1,500 per annum, half for music and half for elocution and calisthenics.

Mr Wilson. It is too dear.

Col Dennison moved an amendment to Mr. Schuyler's substitute, that the Directors be instructed to employ no music teacher during the coming year.

The Chairman here arose and said: "The question before the house is whether music in the schools should be dispensed with or not, all those in favor of the motion will say aye.

Several voices—Aye.

The Chair—Those opposed will say no.

Several voices—No.

So it was decided that the music teacher's services should be dispensed with.

MORE ABOUT THE REPORTS.

Mr O. A. Dolph inquired why $4,000 were added to the estimated expenditures for the next year, if no additional teachers were to be employed.

The Chairman stated that it would be necessary on account of the crowded state of some of the primary departments to employ about three additional teachers and the extra amount in the estimate was for that purpose.

LADIES' SALARIES.

Mr. O'Meara inquired if the estimates included any proposed increase of the salaries of the lady teachers. The Chair said they did not. Mr. O'Meara moved that it is the sense of this meeting that the salaries of the lady teacher should be graded according to merit, and such as their qualifications in teaching entitled them to. The motion prevailed.

THAT LAW SUIT.

Mr. Schuyler inquired what was the state of the motion commenced by the District against ex Clerk J. F. McCoy and his bondsmen.

The Chairman stated that, as far as he knew, it stood just as it did a year ago. It was under another Board, and he had let them control it.

Mr. Schuyler moved that it is the sense of this meeting that said suit be prosecuted to a final decision as speedily as possible.

Mr. Thompson stated that the case had been referred to him to take testimony, and the attorneys were doing their duty by the matter and would probably obtain a decision at the next term of the Circuit Court, which was as soon as anything could be done under the motion.

After some explanations in regard to the matter by Messrs. J. N. Dolph, W. L. Hill and others, the motion was laid on the table.

CALISTHENICS.

A motion was made that the person heretofore employed to teach music, or some other suitable teacher, be employed to give instructions in calisthenics and elocution. The motion was laid on the table, notwithstanding some gymnastical and calisthenical efforts were made to bring it to a final vote.

THE TAX LEVY.

Inquiry was made as to the amount which would be raised by the four mill tax proposed in the Directors' Report, compared with the amount raised last year.

The Chair stated that he was informed by the Clerk that it would be about $4,000 or $5,000 less.

Dr. Atkinson thought that the increase of revenue under the new school law would lighten the local tax and that four mills was more than was necessary.

Dr. Watkins moved that the subject of tax be laid on the table.

Not put to a vote.

ATTEMPTS TO ADJOURN.

Some one moved that the meeting adjourn, and loud calls of "question" were heard. Pending the motion to adjourn the Chair asked to lay the bill of Perry Davis before the meeting and called on Dr. Glenn to explain.

ANOTHER COMMITTEE.

Another short break here occurred and Col. Taylor arose and moved that ex Gov. Curry, Assessor John Dolan be requested to act as a committee to ascertain and report at the next meeting the amount of taxable property in the District. Carried.

On motion of Capt. Ankeny, Dr G. H. Atkinson was requested to act with Messrs. Curry and Dolan.

PERRY DAVIS' BILL.

After another effort was made to carry a motion to adjourn which was not successful and Dr Glenn arose to explain the bill above referred to. He said that it had been rejected by Directors Dolph and Giltner, but he thought it ought to be paid. The Directors had employed Mr. Davis to move and raise the old Central School building at a stipulated price. After it was moved the architects found it was five feet too far south, seven feet too far west and five feet too close to the ground, and the bill of $333 was for the additional moves. He would leave it to the voters to say whether it should be paid. Mr Coombs moved that the bill be paid. Not voted on.

THE TAX AGAIN.

A motion was made that a tax of 1½ mills per cent be levied on the taxable property in the district. The motion was laid on the table, and the motion to adjourn was made and carried.

The School Reports.—We would have been glad to publish the reports of the school officers for the information of our readers, but after several efforts were unable to obtain them. Together with the reporter of the Bulletin, we had made arrangements by which, we supposed, we could get the reports but inquiry at a late hour last night revealed the fact that the Chairman had taken the reports from the meeting and could not be found, so that neither the Bulletin reporter nor ourselves could get them.

Almost a Duel.

A Richmond letter of March 31st to the New York Herald contains the following:

The days of chivalry are fast going in Virginia, which is the last stronghold of the knightly institution. A duel now in the Old Dominion seems to be an utter impossibility. Several attempts have been made in the last few years to revive the defunct code, but the law, supported by a sounder public opinion, has so inexorably fixed and enforced its canons against the duello that it is now almost an impossibility for those who are really anxious to settle their personal differences in that way to evade official vigilance and obtain a meeting. The latest affair of this kind occurred in Norfolk yesterday, involving the editors of the Journal and the Virginian. The difficulty really grew out of the present railroad war between Tom Scott of Pennsylvania and Billy Mahone of this State, although the quarrel was ostensibly of a political nature. Both papers are conservative in politics, but, while the Virginian supports Mahone's interests, the Journal is partial to Scott's schemes. In a recent editorial the Journal accused certain papers (alluding, of course, to the Mahone organs) of entering into a conspiracy to disrupt the conservative party in the event they could not use it to further their own ends. This the Virginian took as aimed at itself, and in language not to be mistaken denounced the charge to be "simply a lie." While such a remark in a Northern journal would attract very little attention, and epithets of that character are bandied without causing any misapprehension, the moment they are used here blood is scented in every breeze and the public are on the qui vive for a deadly encounter. Therefore all were prepared to hear of a speedy meeting between the two Norfolk editors, but were doomed to disappointment, as the law again interposed to prevent the pious intentions of the chivalric journalists.

On Friday evening Mr J. R. Walters, of the Journal, sent a challenge to Mr. James Barron Hope, of the Virginian, which was duly accepted, and all the preliminaries were arranged. The meeting was to take place in North Carolina, and the principals' seconds and surgeons were on the eve of departure for the field when the Mayor of the city in person arrested Mr. Walters at half past ten o'clock at night, under the duelling act. Walters questioned the authority to arrest him, when the Mayor produced a warrant, whereupon that gentleman gracefully submitted to the inevitable, and was placed under bonds in the sum of $6,000 not to fight in the State or out of it, or commit any breach of the peace for twelve months. In the morning the Mayor arrested Mr. Hope and placed him under similar bonds, and so the matter rests at present. But as they have already disfranchised themselves it is not unlikely that they will follow the example of Hughes and Cameron, and fight it out yet in the horrible and uncomeatable recesses of the dismal swamp. More interest than usual attaches to this difficulty from the fact that James Barron Hope is a litterateur and poet of some distinction, who belonged to the old navy, and also the Confederate navy, and is a grandson of Commodore Barron, who killed the celebrated Commodore Decatur in the memorable duel at Bladensburg. Hope also, many years ago, fought a duel at Hampton with a cousin named Jones, both belonging to the navy, and in which each was wounded, Commodore Barron acting as second. The pistols used in these duels are in possession of Captain Hope, and were to have been used in the duel just prevented. Mr. Walters, the challenging party, is a young journalist who had recently taken charge of the Journal.

Never Too Late to Mend.

When the stomach is in a state of chronic rebellion against every kind of food, and the attending physician, with solemn and portentous gravity, declares that such cases of confirmed dyspepsia defy all remedies, do not put faith in his ipse dixit. Indigestion of this obstinate character may be incurable by his prescriptions but it is not therefore an irremovable fixture in the system. The fact is that the great vegetable invigorant and corrective, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is radically curing cases of this seemingly desperate nature every day. Indeed, it is in these malignant phases of dyspepsia which no ordinary medicine can control, that its remedial properties are most wonderfully manifested. We say to the long-suffering martyr, whose stomach is a source of perpetual torment to him, that by the persistent and daily use of this glorious tonic, he can not only restore the digestive organs to their full vigor, but can keep them in good working order through life. If there is constipation, the gentle aperient operation of the Bitters will remove all obstructions, and keep the bowels in a regular and healthy condition. The grand characteristic of this vitalizing and purifying vegetable preparation is that it acts beneficially upon every organ, controlling the liver, reinforcing the nerves, toning the coats of the stomach, promoting a healthy habit of body, relieving the blood of all impurities, clearing the brain and reviving the spirits.

An Arctic Revelation

As there is nothing so solemn in nature as the vast desolation that reigns about the North Pole—virgin yet of the presence of intruding foot or sail or any evidence of our human kind—so when we catch vague glimpses of the land of silence, or are enabled to lift the curtain of ignorance that hangs about its outskirts, nothing can more strike the mind with its impressiveness. We all know that in some lonely, icebound spot lie the remains of brave explorers—Sir John Franklin and his company—never perhaps to be brought back to the world of green fields and pleasant places. But sometimes the secrets of the far North are unlocked; sometimes the shadow of ignorance which envelopes it and hides it from our sight gives way to the light of knowledge, and the world reads a curious story in the revelation.

It has been reserved for Captain Carlsen, a Norwegian navigator, to pierce this veil of mystery in one instance, at least, and to make a discovery which in the recital of it seems more like a strange fairy tale of the far north than a sober narrative of our present day. While so many brave men are exploring the Arctic regions searching for that North Pole, the geographical phantom which ever allures and ever eludes, a curious interest will attach to his discovery. But in order to approach this subject we must follow a circuitous route; we must go back nearly two hundred and seventy eight years to a period late in the sixteenth century, about the year 1596, when one Willem Barentz, a Dutch navigator, sailed away on his second voyage of discovery to trace out, if possible, the northwest passage, that famous imagined highway to Asia by way of the Arctic Ocean, the fact of the existence of which so many other navigators have vainly endeavored to realize. Barentz failed in his search, but he discovered Spitzbergen, that vast archipelago which lies in the heart of the Arctic Ocean. He found it expedient to land upon this coast, and there he built huts for shelter and for temporary residence for himself and for his company. Here he tarried during the dreary months of an Arctic winter, and in due course of time abandoned the spot, leaving their huts and their contents, and returned to his own country, never to revisit his quaint settlement.

Three centuries have nearly passed away since that event. The years have come and gone over those silent witnesses to the presence of the ancient mariner and his sturdy crew. In all that time, as we may believe, no living thing has invaded the sacred solitude of this spot, haunted with memories of that coming, long ago, of Barentz and his men. Possibly from a distance, the walrus and the seal may have gazed upon it, and from his rapid flight in the ether some arctic bird of plumage may have turned a curious eye upon the scene. But no dust has settled there; no moth has stolen in to bring decay. Even the elements seemed to have abated their severity, and to have protected with a kindly hand the legacy left to their individual keeping.

The sequel almost partakes of the character of one of those tales wherewith the princess in the Arabian Knights deferred her threatened and delayed fate by whiling away the tedious evenings of her cruel caliph. One day, in the year 1870, Captain Carlsen bore shoreward in his ship to this icy coast of Spitzbergen. He landed at the spot where Barentz had landed before him, and to his perplexed eyes appeared the vision of the old encampment.

The huts were still there just as Mynheer had left them nearly 300 years ago. In the rude hearth lay the relics of the utterly dead and long extinguished fire. Upon a shelf were books of the old Dutchman's library—a work on navigation, the latest edition published before he had sailed, and a history of China translated into Dutch. Jugs and dishes, wherein had been prepared the food and drink of the adventurers, were scattered here and there, and even a pair of shoes was found which had belonged to a little cabin boy, who, as say the records, had died upon the voyage. There were also some quaint engravings, and a curious mathematical instrument intended to assist in obtaining longitude. All these articles were carefully collected, and were brought to Europe on Carlsen's return.

There is a touch of the pathetic in this revelation of the long kept secret of the arctics. It is as pathetic, indeed, as that story of another old Dutch seaman, Mynheer Vanderdecken, whose ship—we have it upon excellent authority of sailors who come to port, and who themselves have witnessed the strange spectacle—may be seen, at dawn and twilight, in fair weather and foul, rushing like the ghostly ship that it is, through the startled sea, or beating aimlessly about the approaches to the Cape of Good Hope.—New York World.

Repeal is the Word

[From the Cincinnati Gazette.]

The act of Congress awarding increased pay to members for past and future services has already been passed upon by the country and condemned. It is condemned, first, because of the sneaking way in which it was put through, and, second, because it was not believed to be just. So far as regards the votes of those who went out of Congress on the 4th of March and those who remain, there is no difference. One set had contracted with the people to work for $5,000 a year and the contract was out. The other set made the same contract, but had not fulfilled it. Both united in grabbing an increase. They are all, therefore, equally censurable. The ins could get nothing without the assistance of the outs, and the outs were powerless without the assistance of the ins, so they went together for the grab. Now we have all sorts of excuses. Some few—very few—refuse to take the increase. These mostly belong to the ins. They refuse to take the extra pay for the past Congress, but they say nothing about the next Congress to which they were elected with the understanding that the pay was to be $5,000 a year and mileage. This, however, is the point that should be talked about. Instead of advertising that they did not vote for the grab, that it was forced upon them, &c., they should come out in favor of repeal. This is the way to show their honesty and it is the only way. If Congress will not repeal the grab law, then the people should elect men next time pledged to repeal it. This is the way to reach the question.

The question now with the people is not so much the money taken or to be taken out of the Treasury as the sneaking and cowardly way in which it was done. A readjustment of the pay of Congressmen, in lieu of mileage and the franking privilege, was a proper subject for consideration, but it should have been provided for in a bill upon which there could have been full discussion and in regard to which there could have been no dodging.

As regards the increase in the salary of the President, Vice-President, Cabinet Ministers and Justices of the Supreme Court, there need be no objection except as to the way in which the increase was secured. If we pay the President at all we should pay him a liberal salary. Either this, or make it an office of honor exclusively. A great deal is said in this connection about republican simplicity, but we notice that in these days this so called simplicity is expensive. No President can live, as he is expected to live, on $25,000 a year, and we must either elect only rich men, pay the President enough, or to turn him out of the office a poor man—too big to work for a living, and too poor to live without work.

Washington, we are told, lived on $25,000 a year, but it is a long while since Washington was President, and in that time things have changed, and $50,000 now is relatively less than $25,000 was then. These remarks apply also to the Vice President, Cabinet Ministers, and Justices of the Supreme Court. But we object to the way in which the increase was voted. It was put through in this way in order to qualify the congressional grab. Therefore, it is a piece of disgraceful liberality. Standing alone, it would be approved by the great mass of the people, but standing as it does in bad company it is not liked. We are willing however to let this part of the increase stand, because it is just, and because those who draw the salary had no votes and are not responsible for the way in which it was brought about. But the congressional part, we favor repeal, and upon the question we would bring to the scratch the members who protest their innocence, and make all kinds of excuses, while they propose to pocket the increase, and also the new members, who declare they would not have done it had they been in the seats they are hereafter to occupy. This is the way to discover who are honest and who are ready to bow to this unmistakable public verdict. Therefore, repeal is the word.

John C. Fremont and his French Brother-in-Law

The intelligence that Gen. John C. Fremont has been condemned to five years imprisonment by a French court on account of his connection with the negotiation of the Memphis & El Paso railroad bonds in France is a rather astounding denouement of a gigantic railroad enterprise from an American point of view. Those who have read the charges against him, however, and who are familiar with the French custom of dealing with speculators, will not be surprised that the sentence which followed was as [illegible] the nature of the charges that were brought against him. In the course of the trial M. the Baron Gauldree Boilleau, who married a daughter of Thomas H. Benton, and who is consequently a brother-in-law of General Fremont, gave an interesting summary of the latter's career. When Gen. Fremont married, said Boilleau, he was a simple lieutenant without fortune and was ready to plunge into any new enterprise which promised a fair gain. The witness went on to state that Fremont was unsuccessful and is running through with Senator Benton's estate. It was probably on this account that the Baron Gauldree Boilleau through his wife had a claim against Fremont. When the Baron went to New York to settle this claim, he found, so he says, that Fremont had spent much money on account of the election, and he finally settled by the acceptance of 700,000 francs in the Memphis & El Paso Railroad. One witness at the trial, Mr. Mu[illegible]nin—testified that Gen. Fremont, Aufferman, Gauldree Boilleau, Paradis, Crampon, Probst and Lassigne had received in all 13,000,000 francs from the French people on account of the bonds, though only four miles of the road had ever been built. It was also shown that much money had been spent on newspapers and Government officials to secure the introduction of the bonds on the Paris Bourse, and to deceive the people. The dispatches states that the men who were associated with Fremont were all sentenced to various terms of imprisonment, and were arrested on the spot. Gen. Fremont was not there.

Nilsson's Triumph in St. Petersburg

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the London Daily Standard, writing under date of March 21, says:

This week the opera has been, I will not say more crowded than usual, for it is always full, but more enthusiastically crowded than ever. Patti and Nilsson have been throughout the season dividing the honors between them and have taken their benefits. Patti's was at the end of last week. Nilsson took her's this week. The enthusiasm at Patti's benefit was tremendous, indeed to Englishmen, who take these things quietly, it was unaccountable, but it was surpassed altogether by the furore at Nilsson's benefit—a furore heightened no doubt by the fact that it was her farewell performance before leaving Russia. She had selected the part of Marguerite in "Faust," and wild as had been the enthusiasm during the performance the scene at the fall of the curtain was bewildering. One would have thought that everyone in the house had gone mad. How many times she was recalled I suppose no one could say, and at last she had to remain on en permanence. Then there were tremendous calls for a song. The orchestra had all gone, but a piano was brought forward, and two songs were sung. Then at last—and it was now just 1 o'clock—she was allowed to leave the stage. She was escorted to her carriage, which was surrounded by a guard of honor of young men with torches, who accompanied her to her hotel, where a military band was stationed. The number of bouquets thrown upon the stage was prodigious, and the size of some of those handed, but not thrown, no less so—and flowers in the depth of winter in Russia are articles which cost cost money—and in addition to these she received some very valuable jewels, to say nothing of golden chaplets, and an address, signed by a thousand admirers, and entreating her to return soon, and furnished with a large diamond in the shape of a tear, as a symbol of regret. It is acknowledged that never even in Russia, where scenes of enthusiasm are common, was there ever such an outburst of feeling. Patti has, perhaps, as many, if not more admirers than Nilsson, but Patti, although very taking in light, piquant characters, is not by any means a great actress, and is simply admired as a wonderful singing machine, while, upon the other hand, Nilsson's acting, more especially as Marguerite, has won the hearts of people, and it was the woman as much, if not more than the singing that they applauded.

Solferino and Napoleon III

The following remarkable inscription has been placed by the Societa di Solferino upon the catafalque in the ossuary of that town in memory of Napoleon III. Upon the front:

"Born in a palace, reared in adversity, found refuge when but a youth in Italy, loved her for her past, her treasures of art, her wrongs, and with youthful enthusiasm for her redemption first bore arms." Upon the right: "Learned and immersed in the most abstruse studies, yet found time to investigate the condition of the working class, to study, propose and encourage befitting means for their improvement and elevation, never as imperial sovereign forgetting their rights as citizens and men." Facing the altar: "Rose to supreme power, united the French army, and became the champion of every just cause for people oppressed, loyal to his early convictions came to our relief, and with our chiefs wrote our emancipation on the battlefields of Magenta, Melegnano, and Solferino. Free citizens of a free country." Upon the left side: "Arbitrator of Europe for fifteen years, reduced to the profoundest depths of misfortune in less than one short month, died an exile in a foreign land! History may not yet pronounce judgment upon his life, but Italy will gratefully revere her benefactor forever!" Upon a table at the foot of the catafalque lay open a large volume of great value as a historical relic. Upon the first page are the signatures of the officers who took part in the battle, and beneath them in clear relief, surrounded by delicate scroll work, the autographs of Napoleon III and Victor Emanuel. The pages following contain the signatures of over 1,200 officers of every grade who have visited this monument to their fallen brothers in arms. The Swiss Times observes that round the ossuary 8,000 skulls of the brave men slain in the battle on June 24, 1859, have been collected. Upon the door of the church which is the memorial of this great engagement, stands the inscription: "To Napoleon III, Italy's ally in the war for independence of 1859, this society, who have here reverently gathered the bones of the heroes of that memorable and glorious struggle, offer a tribute of Italy's gratitude, and pray for the repose and peace eternal of his soul!"

The New York Times furnishes the following account of the manner in which thieves in that city ply their avocation:

Mr. McEwen, who keeps a tailor's shop in the Young Men's Christian Association Building on Twenty third street, was a member of what we may call the Illuminati. On Thursday evening, at 7½ o'clock, he turned up his gas to its brightest blaze and went home, his usual security enhanced by the fact that he had left locked up in his shop three especially querulous and suspicious dogs. Yet before 10 o'clock that night his stock had been looted to the extent of $1,000 under the very noses of a string of hackmen, who were attending in the exercise of their calling a lecture at the hall. This fact, indeed, was made use of by the thieves to aid an enterprise which for audacity and success has hardly a parallel in the annals of thieving. They drove up in a carriage, which remained in front of McEwen's shop unnoticed in the crowd of others, and opening the door walked boldly in, selected what goods they fancied, and drove leisurely off into the night and that mystery where they are like to remain. The few people who noticed them fancied, from the boldness of their movements, that they must have some right to be there, and for the same reason the furious barking of the dogs attracted no attention. The animals, it would seem, were sagaciously tied up so that the thieves had merely to keep out of reach while they leisurely made their selections.

DEATH OF A DAUGHTER OF PRESIDENT THIERS IN SAN FRANCISCO.—The Omaha (Neb.) Bee of March 27th, says:

Count Maurice and Messrs. A. Alliera and Jules Odont, all officers of the French Navy, went East yesterday by the Chicago and Northwestern train, having in charge the remains of the Count's wife, who was a daughter of M. Thiers, President of the French Republic. The destination of the party was Brest, France. Count Maurice was married only three months ago and had left Brest by the Panama route for Honolulu, where he had expected to meet his command, but was disappointed in finding that the fleet had sailed for San Francisco. The Count followed, and upon the day after his arrival the Viscountess died. Through the agency of the Atlantic cable the sad news was conveyed to the friends and relatives of the deceased in France, and the grief stricken Count was ordered to return to the country from which but so short a time ago he departed under the most happy auspices. It was sorrowful indeed to see the intense grief with which he was borne down as he passed through this city yesterday.

A Paris dispatch of April 1st gives M. Grevy's reasons for resigning the Presidency of the French Assembly:

The National Assembly at Versailles has been debating for two days the Lyons municipality bill. The discussion to day closed with a remarkable scene.

M. Le Royer, a radical, described the committee's report which accompanied the bill as trumpery.

The Marquis de Grammont bitterly retorted and accused the deputy of impertinence.

President Grevy called the Marquis to order, but the latter refused to retract his language.

The members of the Right, exasperated at the call to order, threatened to quit the chamber.

President Grevy made a dignified speech in which he intimated that he should resign, and declared the sitting ended.

The House broke up amid the intensest excitement.

Deputies of all shades of political opinions waited on M. Grevy to night and begged him to overlook the incident, but it is expected that his resignation will be offered to morrow.

The New York Tribune closes its leader on the Atlantic disaster with the following:

All these great sacrifices of human life are profoundly tragical. Men die in battle defending their country or some precious principle, and they count it sweet to sacrifice themselves thus. But the sorrow of the sea is the wail over life, love, and happiness helplessly swallowed in the unpitying waves. There are no monuments for those who go down into the deeps, unknelled and uncoffined. These calamities occurring at such short intervals show us how helpless even science, skill, and long experience are in the grasp of the mighty forces which rule the sea. Shall we, at least, fail, in the midst of our profound sorrow for the lost and for the bereaved survivors, to gather up whatever may remain for guidance to future safety and security on the terrible sea?

A London dispatch of the 5th inst. says:

The exhibitors at Vienna will be divided into groups according to the character of their contributions, each group to have a President and Vice President. Mr. Sanborn advises Minister Jay that the Presidencies of the groups of Education and of Trade and Commerce of the world, and the Vice Presidencies of the groups of Civil Engineers and Public Works and Architecture and Farm houses, have been assigned to the United States. In the department of Art a fine display is promised. England sends paintings valued in the aggregate at two millions. France will contribute five hundred paintings, and Italy three hundred statues. Carpenters are at work on the American building, and many buildings devoted to other nationalities are already completed. Elaborate show cases have arrived from all parts of Europe; in this respect the Americans fall behind.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

Financial.

MONDAY EVENING, April 14, 1873.

Gold in New York to-day, 118⅝.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 86¼ buying; 87 selling.

Gold bars are quotable at 800 fine.

Wheat in Liverpool—Average California 11s 5d@11s 8d; club 11s 9d@12s.

The late extraordinary advance in gold in New York has caused much comment upon the financial situation and condemnation of Congress for not enacting measures of relief. The New York Shipping List says:

The use of the currency reserve, to such an extent as to satisfy the financial demands of the country, is continued by Secretary Richardson as by Mr. Boutwell. An additional amount has been issued during the week, but it is an understanding that only an actual exigency can ever cause these additions to the amount of money in circulation. It is discreditable that any such exigency should be possible. Sufficient time has elapsed since the war to have placed the currency of the country upon a sound footing, but the opportunity has been permitted to pass unheeded, and we are to day apparently no nearer the goal of specie payments than we were seven or eight years ago. The inevitable tendency of our inconvertible currency system is to expel from the country the currency of commerce (gold and silver) thereby placing the nation at a constant disadvantage in competing for the commerce of the world. If we are to go on sending out of the country our gold and silver as fast as it becomes available, it is evident that we shall be no nearer the specie basis ten years hence than we are to day.

Miscellaneous.

The financial recuperation of France from the heavy burden laid upon it by the war, and the payment of the immense indemnity to Germany is wonderful. It has already been announced that by September next the last of the millions due the victorious nation will be turned over to the Imperial Treasury, and the report of the French Ministry shows that no loan will be necessary to complete this task, and that the monetary condition of the nation is sound and gratifying.

The imports at New York for the week ending March 29th show a considerable gain of dry goods and a very large increase of general merchandise, the total being about eleven million dollars in foreign gold value. Previous week, a little below six millions.

The Boston Post of the 4th ult. says there has been a daily and rapid decline in spirits turpentine during the week just brought to a close. The tone of the market under the adverse reports from New York and Northern markets has been very heavy and unsettled, and prices have declined as follows: Friday, 3 cents; Saturday, 1 cent; Monday 1 cent; Tuesday 3 cents; Wednesday 1 cent, and closes to-day very quiet and easy at 51 cents. The influences operating upon this article is much the same as upon rosin, except that of the foreign export trade. There is a slight falling off in this demand from last year, but for the past two or three weeks there has been considerable purchase to supply this demand, and the outlook is more favorable.

One of our late Eastern exchanges says: Shipbuilding promises to be quite brisk the coming season. In all the places where this branch of industry has been pursued, the same spirit prevails, and our lumbermen are daily notified by mail and otherwise of the prospective demand for wooden vessels.

Advices from Shanghai state that the three masted schooner Spray Anderson from Newchwang for Nagasaki foundered at sea, and that the master and crew were all lost with the exception of two Japanese, who reached the Loochoo Coast.

A paper published in this city says: At Portland, Oregon, the Northern Pacific will connect with the east line railroad extending to California with the steamboat lines of the Columbia river and the coastwise trade of the [illegible].

The last two steamships leaving for California took away nearly 18,000 dozen eggs, valued at $4,000.

We beg to notify the public that all warrants for which provision was made in the last tax levy, will be paid upon presentation to the Treasurer.

DR. C. G. GLASS

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the faces, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin in a registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are blacksmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.
